Note for the Reader.

1465343

THE present volume is the fourth volume of the Registers of the Shropshire portion of the Diocese of St. Asaph, which has been printed by the Shropshire Parish Register Society. It contains the earliest volume of the voluminous Registers of Oswestry, extending from the year 1558 to 1669. The remaining volumes of these Registers to 1812 have been copied, and will in due course be issued to Members of the Society.

For the transcript of the present volume, our thanks are due to the energy of Mr. Henry Brierley, the Honorary Secretary of the Lancashire Parish Register Society. The proofs have been most carefully collated with the original Register by Archdeacon Thomas, and the Index has been prepared under his supervision by Mr. T. M. Carpendale.

A few words of explanation are necessary, in reference to the Index. In the first volume of this series, comprising Melverley and Selattyn, in the case of Welsh names—it would not be correct to call them surnames—the name appearing after the first 'ap' or 'verch' was, for indexing purposes, regarded as the surname. This plan has not been adopted in the present volume, but the following will explain the method used in compiling the Index, and will serve as a guide in tracing families. (1) Where there is clearly no surname but a series of Christian names, the name of the individual will be found indexed under the first Christian name. (2) Where there is clearly a surname, in a Welsh family, the persons will be found indexed under such surname. (3) In some cases it is difficult to tell whether an apparent surname is really a surname or a trade, and in such cases the compiler of the Index has acted on his own judgment in indexing them either under the apparent surname or under the first Christian name.

The Venerable Archdeacon Thomas says:—"The indexing of the Welsh names is peculiarly difficult, and their identification for genealogical purposes, still more so. The repetition of 'aps' each of which marks a generation—the different names taken by the same generation of a family, the mention of the township only and not the abode in it—the custom of the eldest son adopting his grandfather's name, while the other sons gave their own names as surnames to their children,—the use of the term Llwyd (Lloyd) to mark the older generation where the names were alike,—and again adding as a sort of nickname the colour of the complection to distinguish other members, e.g., Gwyn, Wynne (light),—Coch, Gough (ruddy); all these complicate the difficulty.—In common use indeed it was simple enough; as each man was talked of by his Christian name, and (1) his abode —e.g., Huw Caellwyd, Sion y Bryn, or (2) by his trade—Robert y Gôf (Smith), Dafydd y Crydd (Shoemaker)—or (3) his descriptive name made permanent—Wynne, Lloyd, Vaughan, or (4) his place name adopted, Mostyn, Trevor, Coetmore, Penrhyn, Blodwel, Myddleton. Sometimes the last 'ap' was omitted as John ap William Thomas; and sometimes it was prefixed to the father's name (a)p Rice, (a)p Hugh, (a)b Owen; but the commonest form was to utilise the father's name, thus making John ap William into John Williams, David ap Robert into David Roberts, or David Probert, thus Rhydderch became Prytherch or Prothero,—Ynyr, Bynner and Bonnor.

Let us take for illustration such a case as "Thomas ap Hugh ap Richard ap Howel" (p. 103). Richard ap Howel may have had several sons, Hugh, John, William, Robert; their sons would take respectively their father's name and become Jones, Williams, Roberts, and so on with Hugh's sons. As the adoption of surnames, however, did not take place simultaneously, even in the same family,—it is impossible to select one "Ap name" for the whole, and it must be left to the genealogist to trace carefully the connexion by a comparison of the names and dates and such other evidence as he can obtain. But the later the date, the nearer it will be to the surname adopted; so that while in the sixteenth century Registers it is desirable to index the whole series, in the late seventeenth and earliest eighteenth centuries the last name may have become the adopted surname."

Contrary to our usual method, this volume has been printed in extenso, and not in the abbreviated form employed in other volumes.

Thanks are due to the late and present Vicars of Oswestry for leave to print the Register, and for facilities afforded in transcription and collation.

The Register

VOLUME I.

Oswestry Registers.

The undivided mother parish of Oswestry, with which these Registers deal, covered an area of 17,418 acres, which were comprised in the Town and Liberties, and the fifteen townships of Middleton, Crickheath, Aston, Hisland, Wootton, Treflach, Morton, Sweeney, Weston Cotton, Maesbury, Llanforda, Trefarclawdd, Cynynion, Pentregaer, and Trefonen; but in 1842 the daughter parishes of Holy Trinity and Trefonen were carved out of it and other townships were assigned to the consolidated parishes of Rhydycroesau in 1844 and Morton in 1861.

The name, "Oswestry," is a version of its Welsh name, "Croes Oswallt" (Oswald's Cross), and may mean either the "Township" or the "Tree' of Oswald," and is held to commemorate the death of that sainted king at the hands of Penda of Northumbria; or, to judge from the analogy of other similar names, Croes Ati, Croes Wylan, Croes Eneurys, it may only indicate an early Christian mission station with its Holy Well, "Ffynnon Oswallt," close by, just as we find in Whitford parish another "Ffynnon Oswallt" and near to it a "Bryn y Groes" (the Bank of the Cross). Down to the twelfth century it retained its character of a British ecclesiastical foundation—as the head of a wide district served by twelve priests, mostly married, from the central Clâs or Collegium. But with the advent of the Normans this was changed. For in 1086, Warren, the lieutenant of Earl Roger of Montgomery, "granted the Church of S. Oswald, with the tithes of the vill, to the monks of St. Peter in Shrewsbury." Then, Bishops Clinton and Durdent of Lichfield confirm and augment respectively the grant of the Church of Album Monasterium "with its chapels and its pension of 30s." and "its tithes, and appurtenant chapels" to the said monks. These "appurtenant chapels" included St. Martin's and Llanyblodwel, and the 30s. appears to have been the grant to St. John's Hospital in Oswestry, "de clericis de Llansilin annuatum 30s." In 1190, William FitzAlan quit claimed to the abbey the advowson of the church and two parts of the tithes of his demesnes in the said vill, which two parts appertained to the building fund of the Church of St. Peter, the other third belonged to the Vicar of the Church of St. Oswald. On the dissolution of the Abbey this rectory became vested in the Crown, which in 1611 granted it to Morris and Phillips, who sold it to the Earl of Suffolk and he again, in 1624, sold it to Dame Elizabeth Craven, from whom the advowson has descended to the present Earl of Powis; but the great tithes were sold in 1810 by the Trustees of the estate to different purchasers, except those of the town and liberties, £211 13s. 6d., which the late Earl gave and annexed in 1872 to the Vicarage of the Parish Church, and those of Middleton, £110 4s. 6d., which he also gave and annexed to the daughter Vicarage of Holy Trinity.

The Parish Church (St. Oswald's, Festival August 5th), first mentioned in the grant of Warren, A.D. 1086, to Shrewsbury Abbey, has passed through many structural changes, by way of addition and rebuilding. Leland, c. 1540, described "the chirche of S. Oswald as a very faire leddid chirche with a great tourrid steeple," and added that "there be chapelles clene without the suburbs. One between Strat-llan and Porth de (du=black gate), viz., Sacellum S. Joannis Baptist. The second without the same suburbe, within a bowshot of St. Oswalde, viz., S. Oswaldi Sacellum, ubi et Fons Oswaldi" where "ther is a chapelle of tymber and the fountein environed with a stone wall. The third .NE. towards Chester and called S. Edithæ Sacellum." A fourth was that of St. Nicholas, in the Castle. When the Civil War broke out in the seventeenth century, the Royalist "governor fortified the castle very strongly and lest the enemy should annoy it from the steeple, pulled it down to the body of the church, part of which he also demolished" and "on the 22nd of June, 1644, the Earle of Denbigh and Coll. Mitton wonne first the chirche, then the towne and those that fled to the castle yielded it up the next day after." The damage done was very great, and estimated at £1,500, towards which a brief was granted in 1675. In 1807 the church was enlarged "and beautified"; after many minor alterations it was admirably restored after the plans of Mr. G. E. Street, and from being disfigured by the rough walling of 1675 and blocked up with pews and galleries it was transformed into its present beauty. It consists of chancel with aisles, of which the north forms the choir vestry, and the south is fitted up as a morning chapel, a long nave with north aisle of equal length and two south aisles, shortened by the base of a Norman tower (the upper portion of which was re-built in the seventeenth century), a short north transept and a new clergy vestry at the south-east angle.

The Registers begin with the year 1558, and consist of 31 volumes (two of which record the Morton Baptisms and Burials, 1827—1852), down to 1909, and are on the whole extremely well kept. The Parish Register Abstract Return for 1831 gives the following summary of them down to 1812:—

OSWESTRY V. (with Aston).

No. I. (several of the early pages illegible) Bap., Bur., Marr., 1558—1609, 1612—1640, 1653—1668.
No. II. Bap., Marr., 1629—1727; Bur., 1669—1678.
No. III. Bur., 1678—1750.
Nos. IV., V. Bap., 1727—1779; Marr., 1727—1754.
No. VI. Bap., 1780—1812.
Nos. VII., VIII. Bur., 1751—1812.
Nos. IX.—XII. Marr., 1755—1812. Also Bap., Bur. (for the House of Industry), 1783—1789.

The first volume comprising 633 pages, 15 in. high, 10½ in. broad, 13 in. thick, parchment and half-bound, is made up of several books, which have been transcribed and bound together, e.g., Sir Hugh Gough's Register 1558—1569, Sir William Muckleston's 1578—1592, continued in the same handwriting to 1614; the hand changes 1614—18 (see p. 337). From 1624—39 it is in Vicar Kyffin's hand, and from 1639—46 in Vicar's Wynne's; from 1640—60 there are many different hands and several gaps; from July 28, 1640—Dec. 4, 1653, there are only a few irregular entries, largely of the family of Evaunce of Treflach; in Dec., 1653, they are entered as "borne" (not baptised), "died" (not buried) and married . . after publicacon . . on three market days. The Register ends with August, 1669, and includes copies of several wills and memoranda connected with the charities. Notwithstanding the blurred and faint condition of some of the pages and the damaged parchment, the volume has been very carefully transcribed throughout by Mr. Henry Brierley, Hon. Secretary of the Lancashire Parish Register Society, and every entry has been collated with the original and verified by myself.

There are entries of great interest that throw light on the character, the occupations and trades, the language, the noted men, and the social condition of the inhabitants.

The town was devastated by the plague twice within thirty years, in 1559 and 1585; in the former case, numbers are prefixed to the burials, once as many as 8 and once 9 a day from July to February, and a note records that "all that be m'ket w'th theese figures are supposed to have died of the plauge" (p. 9); in the latter, "this yere the 18th daie of M'ch 1585 the Plague began in this towne and contynued untill the 20th of July, wherof died three score and foure p'sons and no more" (p. 107). In October, 1597 (p. 194), we read "this yere and the two yeres that went before, corne was at a greate price and speciallie this last somer, for in July last past 1597 Oswestree bushell of wheate was solde there for Twentie and three shillings, Rie at neinteen shillings and above, Barlie at sixteen shillings and otes at tenne shillings And had yt not ben for Dansk (Danzig) rie and Beanes this Reallme this yere hadd byn like to endure greate skarcitie for victualls." Several eminent names occur in the entries; e.g., "1580 Aug. 31, Will'm Llyn Bardus obiit"; he was a noted Welsh bard. "1614 May 10, Reece Kain poet buried," he was a genealogist and his poems throw light on many local families; "1622, Sept. 13, Ieu'n Llavar sep."; but whether he was the poet of that name or only a contemporary, is not clear. In 1582 we have the baptisms of twins under the same name, "Gemini ambo no'iati Johannes"; both were buried the following day. The same year records the burial of a "Mulier mendica et cæca (a blind beggar woman), and in 1601, of "Gwen, being a nideat and not able to discern." In 1605 was buried "Catheryn the wief of Doctor Morgan, late Bushope of Saincte Assaphe" (the translator of the Bible into Welsh, 1588, ob. 1604); and in 1615, "Thomas Edwards clerke who had a chaunce (mischance) in the steeple and was buried Nov. 24; in 1638 Richard, the son of Mr. Thomas Moris, "the philosopher," was baptised, and a week later Gwenne, wife of Owen Jones, "translater" was buried, but it is not said what he translated. Many names of the clergy of Oswestry and elsewhere occur with some information as to their wives and children.

Many old Welsh personal names occur occasionally under different forms, e.g., Adda and Batha; Burian and Birrian (ab Urien); Dai, Daie, Day, Dio, Dicus, diminutives of David; Decwn and Tegin, Eleesey (Elissau), Phivion, Yollin, Eynws, Grono, Heilyn, Twnna, Tenna, with curious foreign names as Coucha Crabs, Nabaioth, Philalethes and Troyolus; Welsh female names, as Angharad and Ynghard, Deylie, Dyly, Dylis, Ellyw, Goleu and Goleubryd, Gwenhwyfar (Gwinivere), Gwenllian, Gwervyl, Mallt, Morvydd, Sionet, and foreign adaptations as Dowce and Dowlee (Dulcibella), Joess (Joyce), Lleucu, Luce, Liws and Lewse (Lucy), Marselie (Marcella), Phalia, Pleasaunce and Blezans, Saige, and even a Methusela.

Nicknames were plentiful and significant, derived mostly from the complexion and features, e.g., Du and Dee (black), Deg and Teg (fair), Dwn, Dwns, Dounce, Downes, Dunse, Dons and Doun (dun, swarthy), Goch, Gow, Go', Gough (red), Llwyd, Lloid (brown, grey), Wynn, Gwyn (white), Vrych (brych, freckled) Velen (yellow, light brown); sometimes from some peculiarity, as Benddu (blackhead), Benvelyn (brownhead), Bengam (crookhead), Chwith (left-handed), Gwtta (short), Trottian (tripper), Sheeptaile, Blode Dimbech (the flower of Denbigh), and John Come-at-last.

The occupations are many and instructive: Banwr, Banor (bleacher), Balmantwr (pavior), Barbur, Bladurwr (scythe maker), Bellfounder, Bobydd and Bobyddes (baker. m. and f.), Briddwr and Brickman, Borther (porter), Capp' (capper), Calcear' (shoemaker), Cardmaker, Corvisor, corsr, cors' (currier), Daliwr (catcher), Dier, dyer, dawber, drov' (drover), Fletcher (arrow maker), frizer (worker on frieze cloth), furber (furbisher), Go' (smith), glou' (glover), gwydd (weaver), Hotpresser, Labrer, lliwyth and lliwydd (colourer or dyer), livowr (sawyer), M'cer (mercer), myln' (miller), mwynwr (miner), Parchment-maker, pewterer and peutterere, presser, Relator, Salter and Saltman, saltpeeter, saer (wheelwright), sawier, soaltner, sherman, Taberner, toorner, tiler, Veddyg (doctor), Walker and waker (fuller), wever, weu' and wydd, Whitetawer (dresser of white leather).
